REVENUE DEPARTMENT.

NOTIFICATION

Dated, October 6, 1902

The following notification of the Government of India is republished:—

DEPARTMENT OF AGRICULTURE OF INDIA

Calcutta, the 10th September 1902

The following Prospectus of Short Courses in Practical Agriculture and its allied subjects to be given as a temporary measure at the Poon Agricultural College and Central Research Institute is published for general information:—

SHORT COURSES IN PRACTICAL AGRICULTURE AND ITS ALLIED SUBJECTS
AT POON

The function of the Poon College in the general scheme of Agricultural Education in India has been defined as that of a Higher Teaching Institution and Research Station for post-graduate agricultural students and for advanced serious students particularly from Indian Universities.

At the present stage of development of the Government Agricultural Colleges it also seems necessary for the Poon Institute and Centre to give, Professor and Native States by instituting short courses of instruction in special branches of Agriculture or in single industries connected with Agriculture. There are now facilities at Poon for thorough instruction in the subjects referred to. Such instruction cannot well be given in other parts of India for at least some years, therefore I hope that a hearty response will be given to the proposal which I now submit. The short courses which I propose are broadly defined in a syllabus for each subject which is appended hereto. I attach the greatest importance to the value of these courses. There is an unmet demand for them, but it is impossible to get at present elsewhere in India such single technical instruction except as a part of much longer courses. The instruction will be essentially practical in character and will require no elaborate dwelling and set over a knowledge of English. It would, however, be an advantage if the men had all a fair general education.

Men who have got the instincts of the profession which they are following or propose to follow, will not be surprised. I desire to select in particular for Poon for these courses men who are not not agriculturists or men by caste.

The courses will be suitable for men of the exalted staff of all the Agricultural Departments, and will be open to private individuals who are engaged in various ways in the special branches of agriculture and allied subjects dealt with. It is not possible to limit to take more than 100 students in each subject at one time, but several subjects may be simultaneously taken up by the same students.

A recommendation by a Director of Agriculture or any other authorized authority will be accepted in regard to any application for admission, if the applicant is considered to be of good character and of robust health.

Five quarters of a very simple but sufficient character will be provided.

Students will have to pay all travelling and personal expenses. The bazaar at Poon need not exceed Rs. 10 per session and might easily be less.

No books will be required.

It is proposed to start classes as soon as possible; an application, should be addressed to the Director and Principal, Agricultural Research Institute, Poon, Berar, as early as a day as possible.

(7) For Collection as an adjunct to Industry Agriculture.—The training can be given only from May 1st to June 1st or September 20th to October 20th. These dates vary a little according to the season, as the days do not always come out regularly. The training includes rearing and handling of cocoons, incubation of larvæ, harvesting, rearing and rearing. It covers the whole industry to the production of seed for use in the production of silkworms.

(8) Industry for Cotton.—The course would include rearing, selection of disease-free eggs, rearing and the collection of waste cocoons. Instruction would also be given in the rearing of silk worms. Silk rearing (spinning) and dyeing with the simpler forms of weaving could be taught. The course would occupy six months if it ended at the rearing, six months if it included rearing, dyeing and weaving of simple fabrics. The training would cover only the ordinary rearing methods, and improved methods of rearing or the more complex forms of weaving. The course will commence on June 1st with year.

- Plinth. (2) The levels of the foundation must be such as the President of the Cantonment Committee may consider satisfactory.

- Special provision as to walls in buildings of more than one story. 6. The outer walls of a masonry building must be constructed of brick or some other hard and incombustible substance.
7. All walls of a masonry building must be properly headed.
8. If a masonry building exceeds one story in height, every wall must be of such thickness as the President of the Cantonment Committee may consider necessary to ensure safety.
9. The floors of every masonry building must be constructed to bear safely the maximum load to be carried, the allowance for live load not being less than fifty-six pounds on the square feet.
- Beams and girders. 10. (1) All beams and girders in a masonry building must be supported by a breadth of brickwork, stone or other solid substance sufficient to secure their stability.
(2) The bearing of a beam or girder on a wall shall not, without the sanction of the President of the Cantonment Committee, be less than three-fourths of the thickness of the wall.

- Open space in rear of buildings. 14. (1) There must be in the rear of every domestic building an open space extending along the entire width of the building and belonging exclusively to the building, unless the back of the building abuts on an open square or the like, of not less than twenty feet in width, which is dedicated to public use and is consequently not likely to be built upon.

(2) The minimum distance across such space from every part of the building to the boundary line, or (if the boundary is a wall) the inner edge of the boundary wall, of the building or land immediately opposite such parts, shall be ten feet.

15. If any person desires to construct a domestic building in a street laid out in the neighbourhood before these orders and rules come into force therein, upon a site which, prior to such date, was occupied by a domestic building, and the site is of such a nature that it is impracticable, to provide an open space in the rear of the building of the dimensions prescribed by rule 14, the President of the Cantonment Committee may relax the provisions of that rule:

Reduction of rule 14 in case of long-time site.
